Sather Tower

Rising majestically on the campus of the University of California, Berkeley, Sather Tower is the iconic symbol of the city. This Gothic-style campanile, completed in 1914, offers breathtaking views of the San Francisco Bay, the Golden Gate Bridge, and the surrounding East Bay hills. Visitors can ascend the 264 steps to the observation deck at the top for a truly unforgettable experience.

Telegraph Avenue

Telegraph Avenue is the vibrant heart of Berkeley, running through the University of California campus and connecting downtown with Southside. This eclectic street is a melting pot of cultures, boasting a diverse array of shops, restaurants, street vendors, and live music venues. From quirky bookstores to student-run cooperatives, Telegraph Avenue showcases the bohemian and intellectual spirit of Berkeley.

University of California, Berkeley

Founded in 1868, the University of California, Berkeley is a world-renowned research university and one of the most prestigious higher education institutions in the United States. Its sprawling campus is home to numerous academic departments, colleges, and research centers, as well as stunning architecture and serene gardens. Visitors can explore the campus landmarks, such as the Doe Library and the Campanile, and attend lectures, performances, and exhibitions open to the public.

Tilden Regional Park

Just a short drive from downtown Berkeley, Tilden Regional Park is a sprawling wilderness area offering a wide range of recreational opportunities. Hike through dense forests, bike along scenic trails, or explore the local flora and fauna at the Environmental Education Center. The park is also home to the Little Farm, a petting zoo where visitors can interact with friendly animals and learn about sustainable agriculture.

Berkeley Art Museum and Pacific Film Archive

The Berkeley Art Museum and Pacific Film Archive (BAMPFA) is a world-renowned institution dedicated to the presentation and preservation of art and film. Its diverse collections span different cultures and time periods, showcasing masterpieces from ancient Egypt to contemporary photography. The BAMPFA also houses a state-of-the-art cinema that screens a wide range of independent films, documentaries, and international cinema.

Hearst Castle (nearby)

While not technically in Berkeley, Hearst Castle is just a short drive away and is worth a visit for its architectural splendor and historical significance. This opulent estate, built by newspaper magnate William Randolph Hearst in the early 20th century, features opulent rooms, beautiful gardens, and stunning views of the California coast. Visitors can tour the castle and explore its many treasures, including priceless antiques, artwork, and tapestries.
